assistant in the Public Works Department, was also before the Committee and is referred to in their report. That design, however, as far as I can gather, simed more at architectural improvement than increased economy, and the Committee were unable to decide as to the comparative; merits of the original and new design. I regard it as fortunate that the Committee did not adopt the resolutions of Mr. T. H. Whitehead, which would have involved a delay of several months in proceeding with the work. Owing to the fact that the foundations of this building are already completed, and delay in prosecuting the work involves considerable loss. and I am so isstissed that everything has been done that can be done to economise in the estimate, and so sensible of the great inconvenience and loss that would be caused by further suspending the work (the Surveyor-General estimates the loss to the revenue by each day's delay to be $100), that in concurrence with the Executive Council I strongly recommend your Lordship to sanction it being procooded with, and I would arge that such sanction should be conveyed by telegraph that I may without delay accept the tender which has been approved, and order work to be resumed.

8.—As regards the Hospital staff quarters after careful consideration and consultation with the Medical Authorities I am of opinion that the quarters are by no means too large, and give barely the accommodation required for the staff, leaving little for any extra demand in view of future contingencies.

It is true, I think, that the building was designed on a somewhat too extravagant scale as regards its external appearance, but I am satiss not possible to devote any part of the building As regards the alterations to the hospital, the Surveyor-General is of opinion that they could

A retaliatory rush was speedily made, particularly reliable at full back. All the forwards, though lacking combination, made strenuous efforts to put the leather through the posts and in this respect Atkinson was especially unlucky, only missing the bar, on several occasions, by a few inches. Crook also played very creditably. The following were the teams:-

W. H. Wallace E. D. Sanders A. Sharp Tresilian F. T. Simpson J. Keddie F. A. Carvalho C. Guirness E. C. Fearon J. A. Remedios Full backs. B. Ezekiel C. W. Dickson Half backs.
